AMERICA URGED AS PROTECTOR OF OLD AUSTRIA

Business Man of Vienna Thinks That Only Way to Restore Land.

BY FARMER MURPHY.
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

VIENNA, May 10, via Paris, May 11.—A United States protectorate for German Austria is the suggestion of one of the largest commercial operators in Vienna. He would have the American interests come in, take charge of Austrian enterprises and administer them. This section of the old empire is "simply stunned by the course of events and is still in a daze. It is best on all sides by the unfriendly neighbor who will profit by its misfortune and consequently will lend it no aid to get on its feet."

There is the friendliest feeling here toward America and not only that, but the people have confidence in its fairness and disinterestedness. "It is believed also other countries have the same confidence in American fair dealing. Therefore the Americans seem best fitted to solve the differences and to establish relations between Austria and the bordering countries, according to the business man. Americans would come in as a kind of combined umpire and referee, and would administer the assets of this country and to use a business term, make of it a going concern."

Divided on Berlin Union.

The fate of German Austria at the peace conference is the most vital question in this country today, yet it is one full of doubt and uncertainty. The government, of course, already is committed to the union with Germany, as it has been twice voted by parliament, but many believe the majority of the people are not in favor of it. Social Democrats, who predominate in the present coalition government, want a union with Germany because it will make Socialism stronger. Christian Socialists, who represent the farmers and clerical elements, are not in favor of a union. Besides these, there are many smaller elements which are more favorable toward the entente than Germany.

Leader of Delegation.

The leader of the peace delegation is Dr. Franz Klein, a legal authority and legal adviser to headquarters during the war. He is known to be in favor of annexation to Germany, and is an opponent to Dr. Bauer. He declared to the committee of the national assembly he will maintain the policy of annexation and will only yield to major force by the allies. Dr. Bauer also said Austria would be present at the conference as a neutral state, as the present government had not declared war on anybody.

But already there is a movement by the Christian Socialists to have Dr. Klein replaced as a delegate by Dr. Beck, who, they say, is not prejudiced in favor of going to Germany.

Another member of the delegation named at the instance of the Christian Socialists is Dr. Lammach, an authority on international law, who is said to be in favor of making Austria a separate state.

The Neues Wiener Journal, which supports an independent German Austria, says Dr. Bauer and Dr. Klein will probably be forced to resign because they favor annexation with Germany.

WASHINGTON NEWS—IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

(Washington Bureau of The Tribune.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—In a parting shot at Secretary of the Treasury, General Palmer and Director General Hines of the railway administration, George N. Peek, chairman of the defunct industrial board, attributed political motives to the administration in repudiating the program it had approved for the stabilizing of prices and reduction of the cost of living.

Secretary Hines issued a reply denying Peek's charges of political motives and asserting that Mr. Peek had defied the instructions given to him and purposes of the industrial board. Mr. Peek, he said, had been persistently issuing misleading statements.

This treasury department announced that the Chicago federal reserve district and the state of Illinois "went over the top" of their quotas in the Victory Liberty loan. The Chicago district subscribed $748,000,000, of which the city of Chicago contributed $240,000,000 without the aid of its banks. Throughout the country 15,000,000 persons subscribed.

The war department pronounced it physically impossible to arrange a parade in Chicago of the 33d division, which the city of Chicago contributed $240,000,000 without the aid of its banks. Throughout the country 15,000,000 persons subscribed.

Disclosures that entente diplomats have been sounding Republican senators on the amendments they will press to the league of nations covenant forebodes the possibility that the meeting to organize the league here in October may accept any changes demanded by the senate.

ROGER W. BAKER, speaking for the department of labor, said that prices have not materially receded except for some raw materials, and that, inasmuch as the principle element of the cost of manufactured articles is labor, the cost of which has advanced, no general price reduction can be expected for some time, if at all.

The American headquarters of the provisional government of Corea made public the text of an appeal for independence to be presented to the peace conference, in which the allies are urged to persuade Japan to cease brutal coercion of the Coreans.

The American Jewish congress issued a list of 250 prominent Americans who have endorsed the Jewish bill of rights, which the peace conference has been asked to incorporate in the peace treaties.

cess of Thurn and Taxis, and the Baroness von Ux, a Hungarian refugee. The princess told me that the report of the imprisonment of herself and husband was a mistake and that the story of "their" death, coming about the execution of their nephew. The young man was taken out of the Park hotel, beaten up, held as a hostage, then executed. Out of the list given by the committee of hostages executed, I found the following had been put to death: The young Prince of Thurn and Taxis, Countess Westarp, Baron Sedlitz, Walter Neuhans, Anton Daumenlang, Walter Deike, a German American; Prof. Berger, an artist; Lieut. Col. Von Teutert, Max Aumiller, and two others not yet identified. They were Prussian soldiers captured by the Reds.

Eleven hostages were put to death. None was of political significance. Four were killed apparently for no other reason than that they were aristocrats. Four others stood up before the firing squad because, as the Reds declared, they were artists and painted things they couldn't understand and sold them for too much money.

PERSHING GOES ON LAST VISIT TO RHINE ZONE

COBLENZ, May 11.—[By the Associated Press.]—Gen. Pershing, commander in chief of the American expeditionary force, arrived in Coblenz today for what may be his last official visit to the American occupation area. During his visit he will arrange with Lieut. Gen. Hunter Liggett final plans for the complete withdrawal of the American forces as decided upon some three weeks ago at general headquarters.

Gen. Pershing confirmed the Washington announcement that all, or at least nearly all, of the Americans would be out of France and Germany by Sept. 1. He announced that plans for the withdrawal of troops from the occupied zone were even further advanced than general headquarters had anticipated some weeks ago.

Assuming that the Germans will sign the peace treaty the troop withdrawal from the Rhine zone will go forward with a rush and if any Americans are left at the bridgehead by September they will be few in number and assigned to the duty of cleaning up and checking property preparatory to turning it over to the French.

Gen. Pershing goes to Mayence tomorrow, where he will take luncheon with Gen. Mangin at French headquarters, and on Monday he will visit Gen. Sir William R. Robertson, commander of the British army of occupation.

DUNNE PILGRIMS MAKE VISIT TO IRISH PRISONERS

DUBLIN, May 10.—[Delayed.]—Michael F. Ryan, former Gov. Edward Dunne of Illinois, and Frank P. Walsh, representatives of Irish societies in the United States, today visited the Brixton prison in London, where Irish prisoners are held, and later called on Archbishop Walsh.

At the reception given them by the lord mayor, members of the corporation adopted resolutions wishing the Americans success in their efforts to secure Irish freedom. Mr. Ryan, replying, said he believed the United States meant when it entered the war that all peoples should have the right to determine the government under which they lived.

The Irish people, he continued, had determined that the government under which they had suffered should no longer be theirs. They had selected their own form of government and it would come—perhaps in six months, perhaps within a year, but the Irish cause was bound to be victorious.

COSTA RICANS BLAME INVASION UPON NEIGHBORS

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, May 10.—[Delayed.]—President Tinoco of Costa Rica, on being informed of the crossing of the northern frontier by hostile forces, issued a manifesto in which he declared:

"An army of Nicaraguans and Mexican buccanniers, with a few Costa Ricans, backed by President Chamorro, has invaded the country." (Emiliano Chamorro is president of Nicaragua.)

General mobilization followed the issuance of the manifesto and President Tinoco established headquarters fifty miles from the frontier to avoid border incidents. The first skirmish occurred between outposts on the Santa Rosa farm, resulting in fifteen casualties to the invaders and three to the government forces. The invaders were afterwards reported to have fled to the frontier.

President Tinoco decided to keep on the defensive in a continued effort to avert border complications.

TAKE BODY OF EDITH CAVELL BACK TO BRITAIN

BRUSSELS, May 11.—The removal of the body of Edith Cavell for interment in England will take place on May 13. Edith Cavell was the English nurse who was executed summarily by the Germans in 1915 for aiding prisoners to cross the frontier into Holland.

Her body was exhumed at Brussels on March 17 and conveyed to the Tirnational.

The body was well preserved. It is understood that an examination revealed that the nurse's death was instantaneous. She was struck by four bullets, two of which entered the right side and two the left, one piercing the heart.

On Tuesday the coffin will be placed on a gun carriage drawn by six black horses and taken to the Gare du Nord. Military honors will be rendered at the Tirnational and at the station. The long route of the cortege has been arranged in order to enable the public to pay its last respects.

CHIEFS OF 33D VISIT COUNTESS IN OLD CHATEAU

French Noblewoman Prayed for Safety and Glad So Many Alive.

BY PAUL WILLIAMS
(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)
(By Special Cable.)

BREIST, May 10.—[Delayed.]—Throughout the eleven months the 33d division was fighting the battle, a French noblewoman prayed daily for their welfare. Today she offered a prayer of thankfulness that so many were spared and bid the Illinois heroes adieu.

The guardian angel of the Prairie division is Countess Ernestine de Tremadieu. It was she who welcomed the men of the division upon their arrival in France. She had seen a great camp grow among the hills of Breist from the tower in her chateau. An invitation to the commanding officer and staff of the first troops to arrive to visit her was sent to the officer in charge. The 13th Infantry marched into camp in March and officially opened it. The invitation was handed to the commanding officer.

Go to Visit Countess.
Col. Abel Davis, Maj. Kendall, regimental surgeon, and Capt. John L. O'Donnell, regimental chaplain, responded. They took an interpreter. The countess was profuse in her greetings. There was tea and a demand from the countess for much information about the Illinois guardsmen. She made her guests feel at home and acquainted with the great task which they knew they were before them. Just before they left the countess led them to a tiny chapel of her chateau and kneeling, she prayed earnestly for the safety of "Les Américains." Every day she promised she would come and repeat her prayer.

Today the commanding officer, the surgeon, and the chaplain with the same interpreter—although his services were not now wholly necessary—called on the countess. Her eyes were alight with joy as she talked with a rapidity peculiar to the French. After the first greeting she inquired a little anxiously how it had gone with the regiment. When told it had lost 300 men she wept. Again she led them to her chapel and knelt. The shafts of waning sunlight filtering through the quaint old fashioned window illuminated her figure. Then followed a prayer for the souls of those who died for France, a thanksgiving for those who had returned, and that they be returned to their homes better for what they had done. Other eyes were moist when she had finished.

Belgian Medals for Men.
The division adjutant has fifty Distinguished Service crosses, Belgian Croix de Guerre, and Belgian Distinguished Service medals, which have been awarded to men of the organization. In all probability these will be presented at the ceremonies Thursday in combination with the conferring of decorations by the French government. Thirty-three medical and dental officers received notice of promotion. The medical officers to be major, Capt. Winfield S. Cleland; to be captain, First Lieutenants Patrick F. O'Farrell, 122nd machine gun battalion; Jesse E. Grayson, Otto Lohman, Item N. Richardson, and Myron Hanna of the 132nd Infantry; John B. Jasek and Hubert J. Eckel of the 136th Infantry; Fred Scheppeler, 128th Infantry; Martin C. F. Goshorn, William C. Badler, and George C. Bionde, 131st Infantry; John L. Riley and Roscoe W. Pratt, 123rd field artillery; Preston W. Whitaker, 168th ammunition train; William H. Paschall, 124th field artillery. Dental officers: To be major, Capt. John M. Evey, division staff; to be captains, First Lieutenants Earl C. Kimbrell and John J. Holland, 123d field artillery; Robert G. Carper, 123d artillery.

REGIMENTS OF 33D DIVISION TO PARADE HERE

War Department Willing to Let Units March as They Arrive.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—The war department will permit the units of the 33d division to parade in Chicago en route to Camp Grant, where they will be demobilized, but the division will not be allowed to parade as a whole.

This decision was communicated by the adjutant general today to Senator McCormick, Congressman Mann, and other Illinois congressmen, who had been pressing the department to reconsider its attitude.

The adjutant general said the units of the division will not arrive at New York at the same time and will be sent on to Camp Grant at various times.

20,000 on Way to Grant.

In order to parade the division as a whole, it was explained, it would be necessary either to hold the first arriving units at New York and commandeer the tourist car equipment of the country or to assemble the entire division in Chicago by degrees, a process which might entail holding men in camp there a week or more before the parade. The adjutant general said this would be unjust to the men desiring immediate discharge.

About 20,000 men of the division will be sent to Camp Grant, and all units will be routed through Chicago, with permission for a stopover parade.

ORDER APPROVED HERE.

The war department's announcement yesterday that the 33d division will not parade in Chicago as a unit, but that the separate regiments may march, met with the hearty approval of Chicago's welcome committee and relatives of the men.

"This decision against working hard-

TWO STEAMERS REACH NEW YORK WITH 3,141 MEN

NEW YORK, May 11.—The steamers Alaska and Arcadia arrived today from Bordeaux with 3,141 officers and enlisted men.

Aboard the Alaska were forty-four officers and 2,976 enlisted men of the 17th field artillery, field and staff, headquarters and supply companies, medical, veterinary, and ordnance detachments, Batteries A to F inclusive, and the 325th Infantry, field and staff, supply company, and Company D, all destined for Camp Upton. Ten civilian casualties also were on board.

The Arcadia brought back thirty-two officers and 990 men, including the 625th special casualty company, the 32nd casual company (New York), 525d (Colorado), 534th (Georgia), and the 307th ammunition train, headquarters, medical and ordnance detachments, motor battalion headquarters, Companies A to D inclusive, to Camp Upton, and two civilian casualties.

Ship on the men through holding them in service until the entire division is assembled in the obvious and sensible move for the war department to make," said Col. W. N. Pelouse, chairman of the city welcome committee. "I know that the men, the fighters who are to home, are against the idea of a divisional parade to a man if the parade tended to reduce their time with their families on homecoming day."

"Chicago auxiliaries are against the idea of a divisional reception. They have all made plans to receive their own regiments and could hardly carry them out if the 33d division came home as a unit. Was held in Camp Grant for more than a week, and brought in here with time for nothing but their long march through the loop."

Begin Reception Plans.

"We will now prepare to entertain each regiment of Illinois troops as it comes through, giving each the opportunity of parading, enjoying a big homecoming dinner and reception, and spending the maximum time with relatives and friends before going to Camp Grant for demobilization."

Members of Gov. Lowden's reception committee who have been urging a divisional parade received the official refusal without regret.

GET READY FOR WARS TO COME, REILLY WARNS

Universal Peace Is Not in Sight, 149th Leader Tells Mothers.

Universal peace is not in sight. Human nature, because of the great war, is more willing to fight today than it has been in the last century. Another war is bound to come, and unless Uncle Sam prepared now to make his will respected and recognized by other countries, wholesale sacrifice of life is certain to result.

That's the warning brought to mothers, mothers, relatives, and friends of Yankee fighting men by Col. Henry J. Reilly, commander of the 149th artillery. He delivered it yesterday to 1,000 or more Chicago people who gathered in the Hotel La Salle at the call of his regiment's Fathers and Mothers' association to give honor to mothers who have lost boys in the war and to pledge their support to aid mothers and their returned soldiers.

"Human nature hasn't changed with the war," Col. Reilly declared. "In fact, the people who have been keyed to great suffering and great sacrifice through it are more ready to fight now than before."

Peace Not in Sight.

"Universal peace is not in sight and is not likely to be consummated. People of the world are restless. They want better things. There will be great changes for the better I believe because the mass of the people are going to make life better and will let nothing stand in the way of their great desire. They have learned that principle is higher than human life. You men know it."

With us two things are most distasteful—lack of success and inhumanity. If we have to meet people just as determined in their desires as we are and if we lack the power to give our will international weight, we will taste both the things we most dislike, for we will not succeed in accomplishing our desires without force, and the inhumanity that will arise from a second unprepared action, the useless loss of life and suffering of untold millions of unprepared men, will bring colossal inhumanity upon us."

Why Germans Failed.

Then the artillery leader explained that, although the United States declared war in April, 1917, three years had passed since then. In March, May, and July, 1918, failed because they exhausted themselves and not because America or the allied armies stopped them. "Why didn't we do something before we went into the war?" he demanded. "And now why don't we, all of us, work to the end that when the president says 'this is our will,' the nations of the world will stop and think before they attempt to override that will? No man who was on the Champagne battle field will say that the German offensive was stopped for any other reason than that God was on our side. This no disrespect, I ask, will He do these things for us always and did He give us brains to use?"

"The next time we go to war, and we will go, let's go prepared."

Maj. Arthur S. Libby, an authority on international diplomacy, and Judge H. Horner made addresses in the Mothers' day program that followed. The Rev. M. P. Boynton talked on "Mother's Day," emphasizing its added significance this year through the return of fighting men. A score of returned artillerymen of the regiment attended with their mothers.

PLAN CHANGE IN LEAGUE TREATY TO SATISFY U. S.

Lord Reading Confers to Gain Views of G. O. P. Leaders.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)
Washington, D. C., May 11.—(Special.)—Disclosure of an interesting story in Washington on the part of the League of Nations has directed attention to the possibility that the League of Nations, when it formally organizes at the White House next October, will amend its constitution, including any amendments demanded by the United States senate.

It appears that the envoys of several European governments have been sounding Republican leaders in the senate on their objections to the League of Nations, and particularly upon the character of the amendments thereto or reservations of American adherents which they seek to have adopted.

Result of Fears in Paris.
The assumption is that these diplomats were pursuing their inquiries upon instructions from their governments, whose delegates in the Paris peace conference betrayed their fear of the defeat of the League of Nations in the American senate.

Senators gained the impression from conversation with the envoys that the League of Nations is regarded abroad as all open to amendment and that it can be readily amended to meet the views of the senate when the League delegates meet in Washington for the formal organization next October.

British Chief Meets Senators.
The most important of these conferences was between Lord Reading, British special ambassador to the United States, and Senator Lodge, majority leader of the senate, Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois, and a number of other Republicans. The meeting took place a few days before the envoy bade farewell to Washington to return to London to resume his post as lord chief justice of England.

The exchange of views between the ambassador and the senators is said to have been frank. The senators stated their objections to the revised draft of the covenant, which they believe does not sufficiently protect American interests and requires the surrender of sovereignty and other vital American rights. Lord Reading sought to overcome some of these objections, but admitted the force of others.

McCormick in Spirited Debate.
The fact that Lord Reading had sought the views of Senator McCormick is regarded as unusually interesting, because of the senator's contention that Great Britain would dominate the League, and because of his resolution declaring for the self-determination of Ireland.

Senator McCormick was not in Washington today, but other senators at the conference said he engaged in a spirited debate with Lord Reading on these issues, and that the senator and the ambassador parted on the most amiable terms.

Whether the opposition succeeds in its efforts to divorce the League of Nations from the peace treaty it is not unlikely that the debate on the League will drag through the summer and that the question of reaching an

IN HONOR OF THE GOLD STAR MOTHERS

One Section of the Parade in Michigan Boulevard Yesterday.

ALL CHICAGO PAYS HONOR TO THE MOTHERS

Special Services at Churches; Parade for Gold Stars.

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

It was Mothers' day yesterday and the sun smiled. The Gold Star Mothers' parade on Michigan avenue was gay with color and brightness, notwithstanding it was a reminder of bereavement and a nation's sorrow.

The churches were filled—almost equal to an Easter Sunday. Flowers adorned the pulpits and were worn on the breasts of strong men and young and matronly women.

Gold Star Mothers occupied the reviewing stand on Michigan avenue as the procession of floats, marines, crippled soldiers, men fresh from the front, members of the Salvation Army, and the young women of the Y. W. C. A. passed by led by bands and viewed by throngs which lined the sidewalks.

Motherhood is Unchanging.
"The test of a nation's morality is the degree of its respect for mother and the home," the Rev. Will F. Shaw said in the Sheffield Avenue Church of Christ. "Among the last words spoken by Christ on the cross concerned the care of his mother."

Three returned soldiers, one a Bulgarian, another one who had lost a leg in France, stood and were greeted not the Mothers' day service in the Warren Avenue Congregational church. "Come home with, or on, your shields," was the Spartan mother's command to her sons," said the pastor, the Rev. J. A. Jenkins. "The same spirit was shown by the motherhood of America. Customs of society change, but motherhood is unchanging."

Recalls Lincoln's Tribute.
"I used to think when I saw girls in bloomers riding bicycles that old fashioned motherhood was dead," the Rev. J. H. O. Smith said in the Metropolitan Christian church, "but I have lived to see these girls grow to womanhood and become great mothers to meet the emergency of our day. Lincoln said once of his mother, who died in his youth, 'All I am I owe to my angel mother.' Thousands of us can say the same."

Six returning soldiers received a greeting of welcome at the Mothers' day service in the Calvary Presbyterian church, Rev. R. D. Kearns, pastor. There were two gold star mothers present.

"When you find a mother who gives herself to poodle dogs, cards, and society to the neglect of the church and the home, there you will find a boy who is not right," Dr. R. D. Kearns said. "The glory of motherhood is seen in her sons, who have come under discipline and home influence."

TAKE SLAYERS OF LIEBKNECHT TO DEATH SPOT

Accused Captain Says He Fired When Red Ran.

BERLIN, Saturday, May 10.—(By the Associated Press.)—The defendants and witnesses in the trial before a court martial of the persons accused of killing Dr. Karl Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg during the Spartacist uprising in Berlin last winter were taken tonight under a strong military guard to the Tiergarten, halting at the spot where Dr. Liebknecht was shot. Capt. Helms von Pfug-Hartung, who is charged with firing the first shot at Dr. Liebknecht, pointed out the spot where the automobile in which the prisoner was being taken to jail from the place where he had been temporarily lodged, pointed out the spot where a fire burst. It was from this spot that several officers, with Dr. Liebknecht, proceeded on foot.

Tried to Escape.
Capt. von Pfug-Hartung claims that Dr. Liebknecht took flight at the moment when the officer in charge turned back to give a guard information as to where the party engaged in repairing the automobile's tire was to be found. The shot that killed Dr. Liebknecht, it was brought out, was fired at a distance of six or seven paces.

The midnight examination of the scene of the shooting lasted a half hour, after which the defendants were again removed to the jail.

Wanted for Greeting.
Franklin Bruhl, a chambermaid who looked after the apartments occupied by the officers and men, stated that she heard the orders given at about 9:30 o'clock on the night of the shooting. One order was to the effect that "men are wanted downstairs to go to the Tiergarten for the purpose of greeting Dr. Liebknecht," while a waiter who testified said he overheard Capt. von Pfug-Hartung tell the crowd about Dr. Liebknecht's automobile to "hit that swine," adding later, "Don't let that man reach the jail alive."

DURING LAYS OF LORELEI RESOUND THROUGH LOOP

City Official Welcomes German Music Back to Chicago.

A wounded soldier from Fort Sheridan passed in front of the Woods theater yesterday. He listened. "The Lorelei" was the strain of the German "Die Lorelei" were floating through the open door. He waited until the music ended. "And in the loop, too," he muttered. "I'll be a—"

German music has scored a "comeback." "Hisener" the mayor said it was O. K., so a sold out house greeted its return with "unrestrained enthusiasm."

His Honor Not There.

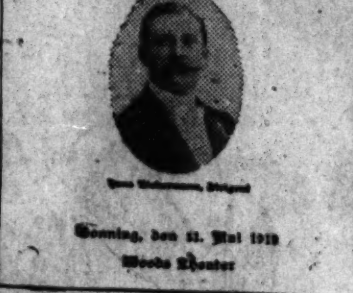

Mayor William Hale Thompson had a lot reserved and was scheduled for a talk but since he is "vacationing," Harry B. Miller, city prosecuting attorney, was the city's representative. "On behalf of the mayor," he said, "it is a pleasure in assuring you of the city's warm welcome upon the return of your music. It is needed to cement the friendship ties strained by the war. Let there be more of these concerts."

The singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" opened the program. The audience arose and at the conclusion applauded.

Then Herr Martin Ballman, kapell-

Jean de Arc in German.

Encores and flowers were tossed on Fräulein Selma Gog when she sang "Die Jungfrau von Orléans," which in English is said to feature "Jean de Arc." Another one of her numbers was "Dem Genius der Toene." "Nachts zuhause," "Wiesengied," "Abendfeier," "Haidenröslein," "Untrua," "Wanderschaft," and a selection from Faust received as much applause as "The Star Spangled Banner."

Five songs in English were sung by Fräulein Gog for those who couldn't understand German.

Oscar Mayer of meat fame was one of the early arrivals. Other prominent citizens were Theodore Gottman, Charles Schick, John Hestel, and August Lederer.

BERNE, May 11.—The German mark, which had recovered to 47 francs per hundred, fell on the publication of the peace terms to 37. All shades of bonds connected with German enterprises dropped considerably in price.

CHINESE TO BUILD THEATER HERE TO RID FILM OF VAMP

$100,000 Firm Prefers Comedy—and Maybe a Little War, Too.

"Look in the paper and see what's at the Oriental tonight."

This is what Mr. Wang says to the dishes have been washed and put away in the near future. The Oriental is to be the name of a new moving picture theater projected by a stock company of local Chinese. Louis Sing, 208 West Twenty-second street, is credited with being the originator of the movement, but Louis says his 3 year old daughter, Silvery Waves, is the one to whom the credit belongs.

Silvery Waves, that being an English translation of her name, is a movie fan. Unless she is taken to a picture show at least once a day there is no living with her. She howls all night and her cries disturb the sleep of the dreamer at hook and ladder No. 4's house, next door.

There's a Reason.

"What makes that kid of yours raise the roof all night?" Chief Rogers asked Louis the other day.

Louis told him the reason, and Rogers jokingly suggested that a picture house be built for Silvery Waves.

"That's a good idea, chief," said Louis. "I'll see what I can do about it."

Louis broached the matter to several Chinese merchants, and they all thought it would be a money-making proposition. A tentative organization was formed at a meeting held last week at Louis Sing's residence. Options have been secured on three vacant pieces of property in or adjacent to Chinatown. A stock company is to be capitalized for $100,000 and work on the new theater will soon begin.

They'll Roll Their Own.

David Griffith and Thomas J. Ince had better sit up and take notice, for the Oriental Theater company intends to make its own film productions.

"We are going to build a nice little theater," said Sing, "one that will seat about 1,200 people. The management will give the patrons what they like, and as our patronage will depend mostly on the Chinese, we will aim to give them something funny. The Chinese man doesn't care for what you Americans call 'vamp' shows. That sort of stuff makes him sick. He wants something to laugh at. Charlie Chaplin and Fatty Arbuckle are his favorite screen artists."

A War Picture, Too.

"We also will put on a good war picture, with plenty of smoke and action. It now looks as if China was going to have trouble with Japan, and a China-Japanese war picture would crowd the house at every performance."

"We intend to give our patrons a vaudeville specialty at every show."

Perhaps one day a good singer and the next a comedian. The Chinese like music.

"Once a week we will produce a Chinese drama with real Chinese actors. I don't know how good the actors will be, but the Americans won't know whether they are rotten or not, and it is against all rules of decency for a Chinese auditor to criticize the players."

"Chinamen have no amusement resort in the city. They do not hang around saloons, and so far as the country going dry July 1, it does not concern them. I never knew but one Chinaman in my life who drank to excess. He's out in Rosehill."

Prisoners In the Dungeon of Humdrum

JOHN PENDEW died of a broken heart. Sixty-four years he had worked for the City; then he went on the pension roll. "I have nothing left to live for now," he said to his son. No work, nothing to interest him, only dull, tedious, empty days ahead. He grew listless and despondent. It was easier to let go of life than to hold on, and so he died.

Sixty-four years of pitiless routine; pushed along through the colorless days by the constant urge of his task that called him from his bed in the morning, and sent him to his lunch at noon, and back again to his home at night to eat and sleep that he might be ready to repeat the same routine another day.

Faithful, hard-working John Pendew—his body was a machine; his spirit was in chains. Born to be a prince and a ruler in the Kingdom of the Soul, with the breath of the Living God in his nostrils, he forgot his birthright in the ceaseless grind of a dull, tedious, monotonous, commonplace routine. Free in the eyes of the law as a sovereign citizen of America, he buried himself for three score years, an unresisting prisoner in the narrow Dungeon of Humdrum.

Suddenly he was cast forth, and the world seemed empty to him. Time was his, with nothing to do in it. The pleasant paths of leisure invited him; books and magazines offered him the wisdom, the challenge, the inspiration of ages past and the greatest of all ages—the present; the hearts and souls of his wife and children were unknown countries for him to explore; the greatest war of all the ages was calling millions of his fellows into its fiery furnace and demanding the moral and material support of every lover of humanity; the wide world with its myriad needs and fascinations, its throbbing life and eager reach into the infinite, all were before him—but he had "nothing to live for." Free to refresh his soul with the wonders of earth and heaven, he pined for the old Dungeon of Humdrum, and died of "a broken heart."

The hope of America—the hope of the World—hangs on the greater freedom of mankind. THE LITERARY DIGEST has sounded many appeals to American citizenship, and always the quick response has come in mighty volume. Now it sends its challenge to the workers in office, and study, in the shop, and in the store, on the farm, and on the railroad, throughout the Nation, to a fuller freedom and a larger life.

Work is the noblest activity of the human body—when it is driven by a soul inspired.

Work is the process by which things are done, whether in the realms of human endeavor or in the universe of a wonder-working God.

Work translates thoughts and words into acts; wins victories in business, in politics, in the salvation of a world.

The work-places of America, where men and women strive in toll of brain and hand, are the foundation of the Nation's strength, the assurance of her safety, the promise of her power—

OR they are the festering sores in which her fatal disease grows and spreads; they are the dreary prison houses of her people; they are the threatening symptoms of her fall.

Which shall they be?

Men and women who love America, it depends on you. THE LITERARY DIGEST asks you to help lift the work of the Nation to a higher, nobler, pleasanter plane. "Where there is no vision the people perish." It is the business of THE LITERARY DIGEST to give American citizens a richer, broader vision of the things worth while in life, of the relation their personal work may bear to these things, of the opportunities America and the world are offering in prodigal abundance to the workers whose minds are informed and trained, and whose spirits have come out from the slavery of the commonplace.

Three men are cutting stone up yonder in the Cathedral grounds. "What are you doing, No. 1?" "I am working for $6.75 a day." "What are you doing, No. 2?" "I am squaring this stone." "What are you doing, No. 3?" "I am helping to build that," and this worker, with mind reaching out beyond his toil, and with a noble spirit of partnership with the best, points proudly up to the great unfinished Cathedral on the hill.

Two million American workers in business, in the professions, and the trades, are illuminating their toil each week by the inspiration which THE LITERARY DIGEST brings them every Saturday with its wealth of the world's news and thought.

"What are you doing, Senator Brown?"

"I am studying the great problem of a League of Nations in order that I may help to build a world peace. This nation-wide symposium in THE LITERARY DIGEST is giving me hope of success."

"What are you doing, Governor Smith?"

"I am planning to organize the people of my State to save it from the fearful disease of Bolshevism so vividly described in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week."

"What are you doing, Professor Jones?"

"I am arranging to have my classes take up this historical study of Poland, past and present, in THE LITERARY DIGEST, and the other articles on "Nations in Rebirth," which THE DIGEST is running, so that our pupils may have their minds broadened by a knowledge of the great events of the world's reconstruction, and may gain a sympathetic understanding of their new brothers and sisters who are winning their liberties in other lands."

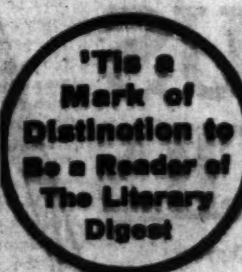

"What are you doing, Pastor Seaton?"

"I am preparing to put up to my people, with all the power God will give me, this serious challenge in THE LITERARY DIGEST for unity and consecration in dealing with the great responsibilities of the Christian Church at this critical moment."

"What are you doing, business man, lawyer, banker, shipper, mechanic, farmer, housekeeper?"

"We are learning the facts of the world's activities, and studying the opinions of the world's thinkers, as they affect our own busy lives; we are finding out what America and the rest of the world need in this day of reconstruction and readjustment; we are considering our part in the mighty tasks of rebuilding the broken world and enlarging our sphere of influence. THE LITERARY DIGEST is telling us all these things every week, and we find, as we read it, that life is full of things worth while, and that we must have a very large share in its work and its rewards."

"What are you doing, citizen of Chicago and reader of this page?" The answer is for you to make; but be assured that if you drink deep each week of the strengthening tonic and impelling stimulant of THE LITERARY DIGEST, You Will Never Rot in the Dreary Dungeon of Humdrum.

HERE ARE IRISH CLAIMS VOICED AT PEACE TABLE

Demand Freedom from Rule of Force Charged to Britain.

PARIS, April 30.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press.]—Here are the claims of "The Provisional Government of the Irish Republic" to the right to participate in the peace conference and to join the league of nations, as free and independent, laid before the conference in the form of a memorial presented to Premier Clemenceau by Sean T. O'Connell, the Sinn Féin delegate of the "republic" in Paris.

"Ireland is a nation which has exercised the right of self-determination in harmony with the principles formulated by President Wilson and accepted by the belligerents as the only sure foundation for a world peace," read the memorial.

"It is not only in the past that Ireland has striven to regain her national freedom. At the general election last December the only issue before the Irish people was the independence of their country, and by a majority of more than three to one the representatives elected are pledged to the abolition of English rule in Ireland.

Irish Republic Proclaimed.
"Following upon the general election, an Irish national assembly has met; an Irish republic has been constituted and proclaimed to the world; a president has been appointed and with him ministers to direct different departments of state; a program of domestic policy has been issued, and an appeal has been addressed to the nations of the world to recognize the free Irish state.

"But while the national will has been declared and the mechanism of free government is ready, the former is being stifled and the latter paralyzed by England's ruthless exercise of military power.

"The president is a fugitive; the Irish parliament is forced to conduct its business in secret; the most elementary civil rights are abrogated; courts martial are sitting at every center, and the jails are filled with prisoners, victims of every brutality and indignity.

"Ireland's claim is clear and cannot with any shadow of justice be refused. Should it be rejected the consequences would be as follows:

"1. Ireland henceforth must rely for her deliverance wholly upon her own efforts. No such rule has been laid down with regard to any other of the smaller nationalities whose emancipation has been made the care of the conference.

"2. Nations which never have denied the right of Ireland to freedom will deprive themselves for the future of the power of countenancing her claim, and will, in consequence, be bound for the first time in history, to leave her unaided.

"3. Article 10 will impose upon all

BOY CLUBBED BY PLAYMATE FOR DIME NEAR DEATH

"He said he'd call his maw, so I waited 'im," Tony Hladik, 15 years old, told detectives of the New City police station, who responded to a murder alarm from the home of Frankie Kolar, 11 years old, of 5121 South Lincoln street. They found Frankie suffering from a dislocated shoulder and concussion of the brain.

Misses Frances Hybel and Lillian Jacobs, 2728 West Fifty-fifth street, calling on Frankie's parents, found Tony standing over the boy, brandishing a club. The girls tried to seize Tony, but he threw his club at them, they told the police.

"We found a dime," said Tony at the police station. "He said it was his and I wanted half. He said he would tell his mother, and I hit him. Gee, I'm sorry."

He is being held pending the outcome of the Kolar boy's injuries, which, the police surgeons say, may prove serious. Tony lives at 5135 South Lincoln street.

nations, as a condition of membership of the league, the obligation to guarantee to Great Britain a title to the possession of Ireland and dominion over the Irish people.

Balks at Irish Slavery.
"Against the imposition of such slavery upon Ireland, and especially against the giving of such a guarantee of title to Great Britain, I enter on behalf of the people of Ireland, in whose name I have the honor to speak, the most emphatic protest. Great Britain's title to Ireland rests solely upon the military power of a nation to determine the fortunes of a people over whom they have no right to rule, except the right of force."

EXPRESSMAN KILLED BY FALL.
Harry A. Draper, an expressman living in Franklin Park, Ill., died yesterday as a result of a fall from a building Saturday afternoon when he fell from his wagon.

ITALIANS REPLY TO SLAV CLAIMS ON FIUME STATUS

Call "Truths" False in a Statement on Adriatic Port.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—[Special.]—The Italian bureau of public information has issued the following statement in reply to the Jugo-Slav committee on the subject of the claims of Italy to Fiume:

"The information bureau of the Serb, Croat, and Slovene kingdom in Washington has given to the press certain straight 'facts' to prove that Italy has no right to Fiume. Being unable to deny with documentary proof, as established by Austro-Hungarian official statistics, that Fiume was inhabited by 24,312 Italians, 6,488 Maygars, 2,515 Germans, and 14,837 Slavs in 1910, it asserts the figures are not trustworthy, and attributes them to bad faith on the part of the Jugo-Slavs.

The Natural Boundary.
"It is hardly opportune to give details of the geographical history of Fiume. It is rather sufficient to indicate that the city lies within the circle of the Julian Alps, which come down to the Gulf of Quarnero. Their watershed, according to two authoritative geographers—Dr. Kindler and Col. Oldrich, the first a German and the second English—forms the natural boundary of Italy on the east. In so far as the Jugo-Slav document refers to the history of Fiume, it may be asserted without hesitation that there is no reputable historical authority anywhere who would pay the slightest attention to the assertions of the Jugo-Slav committee on information. Even the Encyclopaedia Britannica, after attaching Fiume to Croatia geographically, says of its history (vol. X, pp. 450):

"Fiume is supposed to occupy the site of the ancient Liburnian city of Tergeste; later it received the name of Vloptolus, and eventually that of Fanum Sancti Viti ad Fiumen, from which its present name is derived. It was destroyed by Charlemagne in 799, after which it probably long remained under the patriarch of Aquileia, the bishop of Pola; and afterwards in 1339 the Counts of Duino, who ruled it till the end of the fourteenth century.

Passed to Coma.

"It passed to the Counts of Wallsee, who surrendered it in 1411 to Emperor Frederick III. He incorporated the city with the dominions of the house of Austria. From that time till 1779, Fiume was ruled by imperial governors. In 1779 it was declared a free port by Charles VI. In 1779 it was united to Croatia by Empress Maria Theresa, who, in 1779, declared the city a body politic separate from the Austrian empire.

"In 1809 Fiume was occupied by the French. It was retaken by the British in 1813, and restored to Austria the following year. It was ceded to Hungary in 1848, but after the revolution of 1848-49 was annexed to the crown lands of Croatia, under the government of which it remained till it came under Hungarian control in 1870.

Question of Ports.
"The Jugo-Slav committee, after having distorted history, goes on to misrepresent economic necessities, which should require the assignment of Fiume to Jugo-Slavia, stating that without its harbor it would be shut out from any access to the sea whatever. A glance at the map of the Adriatic will demonstrate that Fiume is not the natural seaport of the new state. This is true to such an extent that for two years prior to the war only 13 per cent of the commerce of Croatia, Slovenia, Dalmatia, Bosnia, Herzegovina, and Serbia passed through Fiume.

"Contrary to what their propagandists pretend, the Jugo-Slavs are to get several important harbors, among them Segna, Spalato, Metcovitch, Cattaro, Ragusa, Antivari, Dublino, San Giovanni di Medua, and a series of lesser ports. These harbors are all accessible from the hinterland.

Rights of Italy.
"The rights of Italy, contrary to general impression, are not based on any treaty. They are geographical and historical, and rest upon culture, civilization, and, above all, on the democratic principle of the self-determination of small peoples, because it was recognized, and acted upon by virtue of the fourteen fundamentals enunciated by President Wilson.

"Against these Italian rights, sanctified by the martyrdom of hundreds of Italian patriots, who gave their youth and lives to the cause of Italy on Austrian gibbets or in Austrian prisons; and by the sacrifices of a nation which for four years sustained the horrors of a war without quarter, leaving 600,000 dead on the field of battle, and counting another 600,000 still in hospitals or crippled for life, a nation which is rising from the ruin of its fair provinces and the destruction of its commerce and industries, are offered the pretensions of untouchable Jugo-Slavs, still for the greater part hostile to Austria and Italy, and peopled by a race of men who fought valorously for Austria till the very last.

NEARLY 800,000 BOUGHT V BONDS, CHECK UP SHOWS

Tabulation Supports $240,000,000 Total for Chicago.

With Victory forum deserted save for a stray couple or two, not a band to be heard in the loop, the steam call which has thinned its message into the ears of loop workers silenced, and the city's thirty odd thousand workers reading their Sunday papers in peace for the first time in three weeks, the Victory loan committee yesterday took up the task of tabulating the flood of last minute subscriptions which poured into its offices on Friday and Saturday.

Yesterday's estimate, based on clearing house figures of $240,000,000, was announced. Exact figures will not be available until Wednesday or Thursday. The number of subscribers, it was expected yesterday, will run to about 800,000, a figure closer to the aim than first estimates indicated.

Ward Victory in Doubt.
The result of the race of the ward's organizations for the greatest number of subscriptions in comparison with the number secured in the fourth loan was still undetermined, and it is doubtful whether the ownership of the captured German cannon to be awarded the winner can be announced until the last subscription is counted.

The Twenty-first ward, leads the thirty-five wards with 115 per cent of its self-chosen quota of $5,000,000, a total of $5,715,300, distributed to 10,343 individuals. It jumped from about $4,000,000 at the opening of business on Monday to more than $5,000,000 in a day. Reports show the greatest number of subscribers, 18,800, secured by the Sixth ward.

Subscriptions reported to date total $40,000,000, but these will not be taken up in full as the treasury department ruled that subscriptions in excess of $10,000 would be put in proportion to the amount of over-subscription of the $4,000,000 loan.

Seventh District Figures.
Estimate of the Seventh district's subscription amounted to $747,000,000, against a quota of $525,000,000.

Direct booths, it was found, swelled Chicago's total by more than $1,500,000 in the last three days' work, doubling the amount expected.

Best booth took in a total of $4,000, with returns still uncompleted. Sold by school children aggregated $100,000, with less than half of the sales reporting subscriptions.

Foreign Language Division.
Workers of the foreign language division took subscriptions from $5,000 to $10,000, totaling $5,575,000, with Czech-Slovakia in the lead, with $1,000 distributed to 7,235 persons, and the Poles, $100,000 to 1,170, second.

The Chicago Athletic association reported $1,700,000 in bonds sold to members and employees.

HELPS WIN CANNON

South Chicago's Eighth ward, which claims the championship of the United States in plus subscriptions for the Victory Liberty loan, credits its great old Dorothy Tansey with a large share of the achievement. The ward has been awarded the captured German cannon offered by the Cook county committee for the largest ward gain. The record was achieved under the leadership of George W. Bolling, district chairman.

The Eighth ward's quota was $525,000. The total subscription was $1,250,000, or 240 per cent. One of the features was the record made by Hegewisch—also in the Eighth—which has a voting population of 600. It subscribed $150,000, the total number of subscribers being 2,916. It is figured that every man, woman, and child subscribed.

For five years Dorothy Tansey has been confined to her bed with a spinal ailment. When the last big drive came she was eager to help. So they installed a telephone by her bedside, gave her a telephone book, and she began selling bonds. She sold $7,500 worth of bonds—most of them in small denominations.

Dorothy lives at 2903 East Seventy-ninth street. Her father, Dr. Elmer

Washington, D. C., May 11.—Fifteen million Americans bought Victory Liberty notes in the campaign which closed last night, according to estimates received today by the treasury from federal reserve banks. This compares with about 11,000,000 purchasers in the fourth loan, 17,000,000 in the third, 8,000,000 in the second, and 4,000,000 in the first.

The Chicago federal reserve district went over the top of its quota in the Victory Liberty loan, it was announced officially by the treasury department tonight. Illinois also over-subscribed its quota. The Chicago district estimated its total at $745,000,000, of which the city of Chicago subscribed $540,000,000 without the aid of its banks. Illinois outside of Chicago subscribed $205,000,000.

A few additional reports of subscriptions came in today, but no attempt was made to tabulate them, and the treasury announced that the official total probably would not be known before May 26.

Estimates Far Over Top.
The official total as compiled still stood at $8,849,000,000, but late reports emphasized the earlier indications that the loan had been heavily over-subscribed, reaching possibly $9,000,000,000.

Banks will have until May 24 to report their subscriptions to federal reserve banks, and the federal reserve banks will report to the treasury by May 24.

Reports from all districts indicate that in practically the entire country the quota was taken without material assistance from the banks, a treasury announcement said.

New York's Total Huge.
New York, May 11.—The official total of subscriptions to the Victory loan in the New York federal reserve district was announced this afternoon at $1,550,000,000, an over-subscription of $550,000,000 for the district's quota.

20 Injured in St. Louis
as Dance Stairs Fall

St. Louis, Mo., May 11.—More than twenty persons were injured, ten seriously, when a stairway leading to a dance floor over a café at Forest Park Highlands, a pleasure resort, collapsed tonight.

Two thousand were on the dance pavilion when the stairway gave way. Pandemonium ensued and many were injured. Soldiers visiting the park were pressed into service to assist the police in controlling the frightened crowd.

PEEK CHARGES POLITICS KILLED PRICE REFORM

Arraigns Glass, Who Re-
torts, "He Defied Instructions."

opinion inapplicable, yet it has been used as a basis for the abandonment of the board's plan.

"In all this opposition the board has sought in vain for a substantial reason. It has urged the railroad administration, first to aid it by one single fact or argument to arrive at a lower price for steel, and second to name a price which the railroad administration would consider fair.

Corporate Influences Alleged.

"The railroad administration's only answer has been that the steel price announced by the board is 'too high.' If 'too high' means that the railroad administration can force lower prices by smashing industry, smashing labor, smashing the public interest and throwing production into the hands of the most powerful and lowest cost producers, the board agrees that the price is 'too high.' But it was precisely these results the board was set up to prevent, and the case stands proved that lower prices without these results are impossible.

"Still the railroad administration persists and announces specifically that its only view of a low price is one that shall by inherent attractiveness induce buying, not by the railroad administration alone but also by the old railroad corporations who are so ably represented in the administration by the director general himself and by Messrs. Lovett and Walters, who have headed the opposition to the board."

Holds Glass Also Bismarck.

Mr. Peek continued: "That the administration would commit itself against the public interest merely to support the ancient and discredited railroad slogan, 'The public be damned,' is unthinkable. Yet after all it is the administration, not the director general alone, who had power to thwart the board."

"Thus, there is no question that the board was set to do exactly what it has done, and was set up with the full knowledge and assent of the administration, and was given godspeed upon its way by Mr. Glass. The record on this point is so clear that only a quibbling lawyer with an imagination inflamed with interest could find an excuse to pervert it. Yet, exactly this course has been pursued, and not by the director general alone. It serves no purpose save to confuse the issue.

Politics Not Surrendered.
"Members of the industrial board are experienced business men, untrained in the devious ways of partisan politics. They came to their present task without hope of reward or advancement, believing that the war-time adjustment of politics in national affairs of economic importance had been extended to cover the period of reconstruction. Acclimated to the wholesome air of that adjustment by service on the war industries board, they have become stifled by the impregnated atmosphere that has come with the armistice, and are leaving gainers only by the conclusion that the aspiration of the war was not sufficient to induce the administration to give over the business of politics for the business of government.

"They have been unable to penetrate the inkly cloud in which the political squid has concealed its escape from support of the board in a position which, for some unstated reason, was politically undesirable.

Offers Conjectures.
"I can only admit to the public my own perplexity among the following conjectures:

"In the beginning, did the present opponents of the board fail to foresee the far-reaching results to be achieved, and was the growing importance and power of the board's policy too powerful a political engine to leave outside the administration's arsenal and in the hands of a nonpartisan board? Does the administration plan for 1920 a platform of state socialism which it now finds inconsistent with the results achieved by the board?

"Or, after all, am I giving too much credit for an acumen that does not exist, and is what the board has encountered merely the machinations of the old railroad guard as represented by Messrs. Lovett and Walters and imposed on a too complacent director general or on a director general too jealous of his own prerogatives to see beyond the confines of his little cardroom?

Leaves Parting Message.
"The board cannot answer. It can only depart more in sorrow than in anger, and in great disappointment, from a lost opportunity to serve the country by a simple and sensible plan to reduce the cost of living and to return prosperity. In doing so, it leaves a single message:

"It is capable of accomplishing what it promised. The administration owes it to the nation to put that plan into immediate execution at the hands of some agency in which it can feel political confidence and sympathy."

GLASS IN REPLY

Secretary of the Treasury Glass issued the following statement tonight: "The industrial board, after conferences with the steel interests, but against the express protest of the representative of the railroad administration, approved a scale of prices below which, the industrial board announced, the public should not expect to buy during the year. The attempt thus made to fix minimum prices for the public seemed to be wholly indefensible and contrary to the fundamental principles of economics, of public policy, and of the law.

"Surely the healthy restoration of industrial life and activity is not to be found in the perpetuation and exaggeration, months after the cessation of hostilities, of the artificial conditions which in war time were tolerated as necessary evils. The treasury has consistently striven since armistice day for the removal of all governmental restraints, controls, and interferences.

Violated Its Purpose.

"The original plan, which in its general features had my approval, was to endeavor to bring about a meeting of the minds, between the producers and those governmental agencies which had large purchases to make, upon a basis of prices which would carry conviction that new enterprises might be undertaken with safety and the hope of profit. The industrial board, having failed to bring about such a meeting of the minds with governmental buying agencies, attempted to fix minimum prices for the general public, and thus did precisely that which it had been warned not to do.

"This action was promptly repudiated by me and the board was fully advised of the reasons and urged to mend its ways. Its subsequent efforts to force these minimum prices upon the railroad administration and its failure to recede from the action taken in attempting to fix minimum prices for the general public for a year, confirmed me in the view that the board was hopelessly committed to an unsound and dangerous policy.

Perverts the Actual Truth.

"There is scarcely one accurate assertion or sane deduction in all of Mr. Peek's intemperate screed; and to me it is now perfectly clear why there has been a sad ending of the movement which had its initial meetings in the treasury and which had for its purpose the revival of industrial activity through agencies and by methods that were not contrary to the statutes nor obnoxious to the elementary principles of economics.

"Mr. Peek knows perfectly well that I have never, in any way or at any time, suggested such action as that taken by the industrial board. Hence his reference to me on this point perverts the actual truth.

"Indeed, it is not ineffectual to say that Mr. Peek has persistently and consistently practiced deception in nearly every public statement he has made."

MOSINEE KRAFT

The Uniform Wrapping Paper

An Idea That Reduced the Nation's Wrapping Paper Expense

In the past five years American merchants and manufacturers have saved thousands of dollars that otherwise would have trickled out of their business in wrapping paper waste that somebody would have had to pay for.

Mosinee Kraft has made possible that saving by putting wrapping paper buying on an efficient business basis. It is the first and only wrapping paper to be standardized and guaranteed—

- (1) to be 100% pure sulphate fiber (containing no cheapening adulterants);
- (2) to test uniformly a point to a pound;
- (3) not to overrun its basis weight.

This guarantee is backed up by the entire resources of the manufacturer and appears on every roll and bundle leaving the mill.

"MIKE DE PIKE" LOSES IN DEAL TO BUY JUSTICE

Paid $100, Fined $75, and Now Grand Jury May Take a Hand.

Charges, complaints, and "confessions"—all of which, it is declared, may be repeated before the grand jury—dropped about the city and its suburbs like spring rain last night, following a statement made by "Mike de Pike" Heitler that he had paid $100 to "fix" a case against his resort, the Wigwam.

A reporter dropped into Heitler's place to see what hardships were worked by the temporary injunction issued Saturday by Judge Foell under the abatement act. He found Heitler eating his eggs and French fried potatoes and in a talkative mood. He found the drinks soft, but the proprietor's words were hard.

Heitler's Story.

The substance of Heitler's complaint was this: Deputy sheriffs raided his place early in February. Four women, three men, and Heitler were taken away. The case was set to come up before Justice McKee in Oak Park. The case, he said, was "framed to put me out of business."

"The same day of the pinch a friend of mine, Ben Hyman, called me up," Heitler continued. "He said, 'Say, Mike, I got a friend who is close to Justice Lewis of Oak Park. Maybe he can do something for you.'"

"I met him in the city and he brought a man named John H. Lyle, who was once a constable in Oak Park. Heitler said he could fix the case, but he needed $100. I gave him $35. I met Hyman again with Hyman and Hyman wrote out a check for $65 and when I signed, he took it out to get it cashed, giving the money to the constable fellow."

"Soaked" by Justice Lewis. "I got a change of venue to Justice Lewis, but he soaked me $75 for running a disorderly house. I appealed the case and then had my lawyer call up Justice Lewis about the $100. He said he didn't know anything about it, but promised to see Hyman. That's the way it stands and I'm out my money."

Ben Hyman was found at 844 Lafayette parkway. He admitted recommending Heitler to Heitler and bringing them together. He declared he had been present when Heitler gave Hyman the cash and he said he had cashed the check for $65 and given Hyman the money. He believed Hyman had taken a "long shot" in the expectation that the case would not be prosecuted and said Justice Lewis knew nothing about the transaction, in his opinion. "I brought Hyman to Heitler," he

EDUCATION OF ALIENS AT HARVEY CITED FOR AMERICANIZATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—(Special.)—Every phase of the problem of the assimilation of the foreign born will be discussed during the four days' sessions of the conference on Americanization which will open tomorrow under the auspices of the department of the interior.

Delegates from Chicago include W. M. Roberts, assistant superintendent of schools; Mrs. E. B. Dennis, Felix Strejcek, Harry A. Lipke, and William K. Pfau.

Harvey, Ill., is cited by the bureau of naturalization as an example of what can be accomplished by active community work among the foreign born. A survey of the foreign population of Harvey taken in February disclosed the fact that one-fourth of the 1,000 inhabitants were foreign born, very few of whom were naturalized, and a majority of whom were unable to read, write, or speak English.

Justice W. Stevens Lewis smiled last night when found at 634 Carpenter avenue, Oak Park, and told of the charges. "I have heard of it several times," he said.

"Ben E. Cohen, an attorney for Mike, called me up and asked me if I could get the hundred from Hyman and give it back to Mike. I told him that I did not know anything about the money that Hyman was supposed to have taken to fix the case. Another man called up and asked me if I had seen Hyman yet and got the money and I told him the same thing."

"As Attorney John H. Lyle was prosecuting the case I wrote him twice about the two men that telephoned me about getting the money back and told him that I did not want to be bothered any more. I asked Lyle to represent me and take the matter up with the bar association."

To Seek Grand Jury's Aid. Ald. Lyle, who represented the sheriff's office in making the raids and prosecuting the case, said he, too, had heard of Heitler's complaint of having been mulcted of $100. He said Justice Lewis had written to him asking what he should do, threatening to take the matter up with the grand jury to find out who got the cash and under what pretext.

Justice Lewis, if he favored either side, leaned toward the prosecution," said Lyle. "He gave us a clean trial on the merits of the case and according to law."

Hyman could not be found. At his former residence at 646 Adams street, Oak Park, it was declared he had stored his furniture and moved.

All the signs of the case are under investigation by State's attorney Hyman's office. It is understood, with a view to possible grand jury action.

FROST MARKS CONVENTION OF THE "WOBBLES"

Along with a program of "red" and "wobly" songs, delegates to the "wobly" convention now being staged in Chicago, aired their trials, troubles, and tribulations at a convention mass meeting in the West Side auditorium yesterday afternoon. About 150 people "crowded" into the big hall.

After a lot of cheers, the speaking started by John Shank, one of the delegates, who was introduced as a "martyr who had been taken out on the desert of Arizona, 100 miles from where and left to die."

He was followed by a tall, angular woman dressed in black, who was introduced as "Fellow Worker Roberta Bruner," who spoke in a high pitched voice.

"Organize, march on, and take what belongs to you," said Roberta. "There are 100,000 in Chicago with empty stomachs, and many of our fellow workers are in jail."

"Organize, help the unemployed, and get our members out of jail. It has been charged that we are in a conspiracy to overthrow the capitalists. It was blue Sunday for the reds of the Calumet region. Their monster protest demonstration in Hammond was a complete fiasco and overawed by overwhelming forces of law and order they made no attempt to meet en masse. Three Gary reds were arrested while getting off an interurban car."

PROCLAIMS W FOR BOY SCOUTS PRAISES W

Wilson Asks the National Support Movement to Aid Youth.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—President Wilson, in a proclamation public here today, recommended the period beginning June 1 day, June 14, be observed as Boy Scout week for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America. The president urged that in every community citizens' committees be organized to operate in carrying out a "Scout Week" program.

The proclamation, signed by the president, reads in part:

"Whereas the Boy Scouts of America, during the world war, rendered notable service to the country as Boy Scout week for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America."

"A proclamation. The Boy Scouts of America rendered notable service to the country during the world war. They did effective work in the lines of war savings campaigns, in training and reporting upon the youth of the nation, and in other important fields. Scouts have not only demonstrated their worth to the nation, but also materially contributed to the higher conception of patriotism and good citizenship."

"Every nation depends for its progress upon the proper training and development of its youth. The American people must have the best training available for the youth of America, if America is to maintain her high standards, and her influence in the world."

Carry Forward Work. "The plan, therefore, for Scout week, during which a national appeal will be made to all Americans to support the work of the Boy Scouts of America in a post-war carry forward effectively and usually the splendid work they are doing for the youth of America, have the unreserved support of the president of the United States of America."

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby recommend the period beginning Sunday, June 1st, day, June 14, be observed as Scout week throughout the United States for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America."

PROCLAIMS WEEK FOR BOY SCOUTS; PRAISES WORK

Wilson Asks the Nation to Support Movement to Aid Youth.

Washington, D. C., May 11.—President Wilson, in a proclamation made public here today, recommended that the period beginning June 8 to June 14, be observed over the country as Boy Scout week for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America. The president urged that in every community a citizens' committee be organized to cooperate in carrying out a program for extending the Boy Scout program to a larger proportion of American youth.

Under plans announced by James M. Wood, chief scout executive, a nationwide campaign will be conducted for 100,000 associate members to act as scout masters, assistants, and other leaders of the scout troops.

The proclamation, fixing the campaign week, follows:

"By the president of the United States of America.

"A proclamation.

"The Boy Scouts of America have rendered valuable service to the nation during the world war. They have done effective work in the liberty loan and war savings campaigns, in discovering and reporting upon the black market supply, in cooperating with the Red Cross and other war work agencies, in acting as dispatch bearers for the committee on public information, and in other important fields. The Boy Scouts have not only demonstrated their worth to the nation, but have also materially contributed to a deep appreciation by the American people of the higher conception of patriotism and good citizenship.

"Every nation depends for its future upon the proper training and development of its youth. The American boy must have the best training and discipline our great democracy can provide if America is to maintain her ideals, her standards, and her influence in the world.

"Carry Forward Work.

"The plan, therefore, for a Boy Scout week, during which a universal appeal will be made to all Americans to supply the means to put the Boy Scouts of America in a position to carry forward effectively and continuously the splendid work they are doing for the youth of America, should have the unreserved support of the nation.

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby recommend that the period beginning Sunday, June 8, to Friday, June 14, be observed as Boy Scout week throughout the United States for the purpose of strengthening the work of the Boy Scouts of America.

REAR ADMIRAL THOMAS.

Pacific Grove, Cal., May 11.—Rear Admiral Chauncey Thomas, U. S. N., retired, is dead here, after an extended illness, it was announced today. He later was executive officer of the battleship Oregon and still later commanded the Pacific fleet.

ing the work of the Boy Scouts of America.

"I earnestly recommend that, in every community, a citizens' committee, under the leadership of a national citizens' committee, be organized to cooperate in carrying out a program for a definite recognition of the effective services rendered by the Boy Scouts of America; for a survey of the facts relating to the boyhood of each community, in order that with the cooperation of churches, schools, and other organizations definitely engaged in work for boys, adequate provision be made for extending the Boy Scout program to a larger proportion of American boyhood.

"The Boy Scout movement offers unusual opportunity for volunteer service. It needs men to act as committee-men and as leaders of groups of boys. In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

"Done this first day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-third.

For Particular People

Hotel Pennsylvania appeals to people who want the best there is—and are used to having it.

Though it is the largest hotel in the world (2200 rooms, 2200 baths), its chief claim to distinction is its character. It provides everything—including the intangible things—which the discriminating traveler wants of his New York hotel.

Complete and Extra-Comfortable

Every bedroom in the Pennsylvania has private bath, circulating ice-water, and many other unusual conveniences—including the ingenious "Servidor," which saves time and trouble by eliminating contact with servants in sending things to or from your room. Clothes to be pressed, laundry, and similar services are put into a receptacle built into your bedroom door; the employee who handles them opens the receptacle (not the door itself), and doesn't even see into your room.

A morning paper is delivered free to every guest-room; a well-selected library is at your service; thoughtful provision for your comfort and convenience is shown by many unusual equipment-features—such as the reading-lamp at the head of your bed, the full-length mirror in every room, the portable desk-light, etc.

And At These Rates:

Rooms for one person at $3, $3.50, $4, $5 and $6; for two, $5, $6 and $7 (with twin-beds, $6, $7 and $8); parlor suites, $12 and up.

It is wise to reserve in advance of your arrival—because the Pennsylvania is a successful hotel, preferred by many travelers and limited, big as it is, in capacity.

But this is nevertheless the case, for all Woolens have so increased in cost with the limited production during war years, that reductions from moderate prices are scarcely to be expected. Here, however, we are following a long-established custom, lowering very materially the price of every short length and odd bolt of Woolen Fabrics. Women who have shared in the savings in other years will wish to have no other details given. For any unacquainted with this event, we list the following Woolens as being among those which prompt purchasers will find here:

Sooty Sittings Navy Cheviots Sports Checks
Poirot Twills Poplins Jersey Gabardines
Serges Novelty Serges Invisible Checks Silk Poplins
Satin Striped Poplins Navy Melrose Navy Wool Etamines

Of some of these only 25 yards remain. Of others, there are several bolts. Some are 54 inches wide, others 48, others 28. To obtain any of the most desirable one should be among the earliest choosers.

Women's BEAUTIFUL COATS Designed for Every Summer Need

CHARACTERIZED by an agreeable exclusiveness, the New Coats now being shown for Summer purposes are too lovely to be adequately described. Witness the three pictured below—in the order of their sketching—a soft brown tricolette Wrap bloused at the back, rich with metallic gold embroidery, a wide-sleeved Day Coat of softest imaginable duvetyn combined with gabardine, vertical as to front and horizontal as to back, and the four-tiered Cape at the right, of vivid Empire green broadcloth, stitched many times to match.

Yet these are only a little group of an almost bewildering galaxy of Summer Wraps—waist-length, hip-length, three-quarter and full lengths, of wools, satins, tricolettes, porettes, velveteens, according to style, $30 to $295.

FORD'S STAND
PREPAREDNE
ISSUE AT T

Three Year Attitude
Be Subject of Contest.

BY PHILIP KINLEY

Mount Clemens, Mich., May 12.—[Special.]—One of the chief points that presents itself at the opening of the Henry Ford-Chicago Trial in the Circuit court here today is the admission of evidence on Mr. Ford's attitude during the last three years in the matter of military preparedness.

In a trial brief which Mr. Ford will file in Judge Tucker's court tomorrow this question is discussed.

"Whatever the plaintiff may say or do upon the question of military and military preparedness may have been his views upon topics allied to the question of armament or of a close national understanding between nations, is wholly foreign to the issue in the libelous article in seeking to introduce evidence as an evidence of the purpose of bolstering the libel itself."

Claims of the Defense.

Attorneys for the defendant claim that the editorial in The Tribune for which Mr. Ford seeks damages of $1,000,000 cannot be set aside as isolated criticism, but is a series of editorials in which the question of adequate military preparedness was discussed.

"In this discussion the plaintiff takes a prominent and effective position, and the defendant's enormous wealth of millions, and his personal influence, are used to oppose any military preparation, or any preparation for war, and he enters into the war, and to oppose the duty of citizens to military service and publicly to the motives, the honor, and the character of those who served in the war who opposed his views."

"And the defendant says the article complained of in the trial was a part of this series of editorials and was published without malice for proper purposes."

Mass of Diplomatic Papers.

Thus the lines are drawn. A mass of diplomatic correspondence, other matters bearing on the events in this country during the war, and just before the entrance into the European war, are ready for use in this case if the plaintiff, by introducing and producing them, can show that the national issue is pertinent. Up to this point the trial has been a mass of witnesses by both sides.

In the trial brief the attorney for Mr. Ford declares that the new evidence from Detroit on which the famous "architect" editorial was based was a part of the Ford Motor company's service as national leader at the time the president's troops to Mexico would lose their way and that no provision was made for their families.

Claim of Justification.

The Tribune maintains that it is justified in printing this news, and that the editorial criticism was justified. On this point Ford brief says:

"No burden is imposed upon plaintiff to prove the falsity of statements. However, in rebuttal, plaintiff, by overwhelming and trustworthy testimony, will establish the falsity of them. The plaintiff and of the Ford Motor company are directly at variance with the policies attributed to them by no legal obligation on the part of the plaintiff to adopt the policy towards Mexico contended for by the defendant."

Employers' association, such policy. Neither farmer, tradesmen, nor individual employees under obligation to do so. They do it generally."

With many of them would have about bankruptcy. They might say that, when the nation implores its service the duty falls to treat him and his family. Employers did assume any burden of the respects mentioned, this plaintiff, that was a mass of evidence."

Opposed to Any Privilege.

In this issue of facts the witnesses will be The Tribune's correspondent in Detroit and the manager of the Ford Motor company. The Ford brief takes up the point of "fair comment and privilege" claims that "in no event can defendant in this case invoke the privilege. Nor may fair comment go beyond the expression of opinion. That is its essence, opinion as distinguished from fact. It must be based on fact, not on fact. If it is based on fact, and attacks a character is no longer comment."

The Ford attorneys ask as a condition, one for damages to be paid for other damages.

These are the two cases. The attorneys on both sides have been working for more than two years. They spent Sunday afternoons up their opening statement. They expect to get a jury in days, possibly in two days.

Mr. Ford May Testify.

Mr. Ford is expected to testify. He did not arrive in Chicago today. His arrival in the city was said at his hotel, he expected early in the week. His trial attorney, Alfred M. Lusk, arrived this evening. William L.

By Mae Tinee.
This is a darling of a picture.
Not a wonderful picture, understand.
No great triumph of art or acting. Just an interesting, cleverly told human little story with some nice people in the cast. The whole effect, however, is to send you right purring. In other words, nobody rubs you the wrong way.

If you're at all Sherlockian in your instincts you will know immediately upon glancing at the personnel, that the picture has western atmosphere.
"Two Gun" Smith is your clew. How right you are, my dear Watson!
When Madge left her train to give her dog a run—dogout!
The train sailed merrily on.
Without Miss Madge on it.

And there she was right out in the midst of the desert and everything with nothing but her dog and her fur cape to keep her company.

Hal! The eve when she discovers a deserted shack. The desert winds are howling her. The rains are sounding her. Gasping, she enters the shack to find it not so deserted as it had looked.

It is peopled with a handsome and mysterious stranger who for some time appears to be what he is not, but in the course of events follows the gang of train thieves and kidnappers who next appear; turns out to be a veritable prince in disguise and—well—what does it suppose?

There's quite a lot of lively action in
"Leave It to Susan," in which Susan

A Friend in Need Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friend in need and the friend in need may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy, and you would gladly give it if you knew how to go about it. Write to me and I shall be only too happy to be of service to you.
When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send forwards to "The Tribune," but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

For Outdoor Exercise.
"I am 13 years old and cannot go to school because I have spells and it gets warm in school for me. The doctor said I should have plenty of outdoor exercise. I wish I could get a pair of roller skates." V. R.
This childish appeal, I know, will meet with ready response. Some little girl who is eventful with her toys may be willing to give up her roller skates to the sick girl.

J. B. You neglected to give me your address. No, you will not be an American citizen until you receive your final papers.

A REAL LOVE STORY

Do you know a real love story—one that is stranger than fiction? It is the idea that is wanted. No attention will be paid to the story itself. The Tribune will pay $5 for every story published. No manuscript returned. Address: Doris Blake,
"The Tribune," Chicago.

A Stormy Courtship.
It is hard to be 17 and romantic and not to have a love story of one's own. That is why, when I was 17,
I took such a keen and active interest in the love affairs of my older sisters.
My oldest sister had at that time
two admirers, one a young college instructor and the other my father's junior partner. The latter, I violently disliked, as he treated me with scant dignity and was continually teasing me.
In revenge I did my best to make his suit for my sister's favor unsuccessful. All the soft speeches I overheard I repeated with painful accuracy to my amiable family; his visits to my sister were made as intolerable as possible. I was scolded and punished, but it made no difference. Finally one day after one of my speeches he caught me in the hall and, taking me by the shoulders, shook me.
"You little wretch!" he said angrily.
"I hope you marry some man who will treat you the way you deserve!"
"Well, it won't be you—that's one comfort," I retorted.
"I'm not so sure," he returned. "I've a good mind to marry you myself and let you have what you deserve!"
After that we fought more than ever,
but his attentions to sister lessened.
Then I went away to college and did not see him for two years.
When I returned and was introduced to quarrel again, but it was different.
Suddenly one day he calmly an-

The Care of Milk.
No foods need such care in warm weather as milk does. The bottle of milk taken in from outside should be instantly washed out under the faucet and wiped dry. It put in the icebox, but it is a much better thing to transfer this milk to a small immucably clean and cool. In fact waiting in the icebox for it, or to heat it to sterilizing temperature before putting it in that clean vessel.
The old-fashioned farm wife rinsed out every milk pan with cold water before adding hot, because hot water cooked the milk on and all might not get secured off and her pans had to be immaculate. Hot water cooks protein at a temperature far below
the boiling point.
Every milk bottle that comes into the house should be rinsed out with cold water before it is washed. And do wash thoroughly every bottle delivered to you, and if you stand it outside either inverted or over it. You are being kind to some one in doing this. Some will tell you it is useless because bottles are put through a cleaning process, but please read some of the precautions taken by those who analyze foods to make them sterile and you will understand what the chances are for milk bottles handled mechanically and in our modern day air of being sterile.
I poured milk out of a pint bottle
the other day and there were three rings around the inside. These might not show at a casual glance when the bottle looked clean.
Be sure to eat your pint of milk
a day, but not dirty milk.

Bright Sayings of Children

In the Victory loan drive Bobbie's teacher gave each of the children a blank and told them to try to get them signed by their parents or friends.

child's saying. The story must be original and not a copy of any other story. It is not possible to pay for your bath and a clean sink; the people on the street will think you have no mother if they see you looking like that." To which Larry replied, "Then what would they think when I brought them in and showed them how many mothers I have?" J. S. H.

CORN SCARCE; PRICES HIGH; MARKET ERRATIC

Imports from Argentina
May Assist in Making Up Crop Deficit.

BY CHARLES D. MICHAELS.

No one in the trade has seen such a corn market as has been of late. Fluctuations of 5c to 8c either way are common. The extreme range last week was 15 1/2c in September, 13c in July, and 10 1/2c in May, with the close 10 1/2c lower for September, 8 1/2c off for July, and only 2c in May.

A material change occurred during the week in the spreading of the difference between cash corn and the deferred futures, cash lots being 5c to 8c higher than a week ago, and May corn, which recently was even with July, showed to premium, and was practically 10c over the September at the finish Saturday, while a week ago the spread was only 5c. Pressure from speculation has been put on the September, as they are mainly bearish, while the shorts bought May and July on the strength in the cash situation.

Big Drop in Receipts.

The movement of corn was cut down over 90 per cent last week and is expected to be light for several weeks. It is doubtful whether receipts will be as large in any week during the balance of the season as they were for the week ended May 3, which were 2,023,000 bu. at Chicago, while the primary run was 4,617,000 bu.

Corn is disappearing at a rate that surprises even the most rampant bears to admit that supplies are small, and while some consumers are waiting for Argentine supplies, it is noticeable that they are steadily picking up the domestic offerings.

It will be no surprise to see corn sell at $1.00 before the end of the season, which is practically six months away. There will be many wide fluctuations during that period that will try the nerves and bank accounts of those who are either short or long, and both expect to have liberal innings at various times.

Country speculators are mostly bullish and are buying corn on sharp declines. Apparently there is some one absorbing the corn on the big declines in a way that is making it most uncomfortable for the bears, who are continually watching for weak spots in the market, as they want to be in right when the market starts on one of its downward swings. The trouble has been that on all the big breaks the market has been overbought, and with no balance wheel in the shape of liberal stocks it is easily rallied after the dips.

Basis for High Prices.

There are evidently good reasons for the high selling at present prices, or it would not be there, as corn values cannot be held at a level arbitrarily for any length of time without a real basis for it. The fact that we are importing Argentine corn is more of a bulwark than a headwind, showing extreme scarcity of supplies.

One factor in the Argentine corn is that the buyers assume that the corn is of the quality of the grain. An importer who handled large quantities of Argentine corn in 1915 says so much of it arrived out of condition at that time that he is not, believe it or not, a headwind, although there is an apparent profit of 2c under July in buying it, delivered at the seaboard, Iowa industries have done some figuring on Argentine corn, but have not issued any trades so far as known.

Under existing conditions the corn market can do nothing without without surprising the trade.

May corn closed on Saturday at $1.02, July $1.04, September $1.03, 1919. Prices for the week follow:

	May	July	Sept.
May 1919	1.02	1.04	1.03

Employers: Have You a Job?

Call at or telephone Employment Bureau for soldiers, sailors and marines, 120 West Adams Street, Randolph 520, and give the real men real jobs.

Bride's Week

With the coming of this, our first peace-time spring, weddings again resume their place of supreme importance. Brides once more plan that pageantry, of varied degree as taste or inclination dictates, with which tradition has endowed weddings.

Whatever her plans may be, this store is in absolute readiness to help the bride in their successful completion. Trousseaux, simple or elaborate, may be assembled here with the happy certainty that every article will be faultless in style, and irreproachable in quality.

The wedding gown, the veil, all the charming accessories that go to make a perfect costume are here. Frocks for a whole day's cycle, wraps, all-enveloping, of soft, rich fabrics, suits for the journey, and all the millinery and footwear modes conceded correct for each type of costume, as well as exquisite trousseau lingerie and linens, are in readiness—awaiting the visit of the Bride of 1919.

Turbans Set a New Vogue
Unlike Any Other Summer Fashion

Perhaps it's the radiant spirit pervading the new season's social events, or just a stroke of genius on the part of modistes that inspired their creation.

Whatever it be, these turbans foretell their own success for they are perfectly suited to their occasion. They are—

Fashioned of Pastel Tinted Brocades or More Vivid Gauze Over Taffeta to Accompany Dance Frocks

A pearl ornament, beads, or large striking-looking pins are the only decorations. In line, they are rather Egyptian and markedly becoming.

The same motif is carried out in darker straws and silks with flat flowers as trimming to make a mode new and smart for street wear.

Special Showing in the French Room, $18.50
Fifth Floor, South.

CARSON PIRIE SCOTT & Co*The May Sales

May, the threshold of summer, always brings interesting days.

This month is the time to benefit materially by the merchandising plans of this store which bring

Lingerie	Women's Tub Frocks
Silken Undergarments	Blouses
House Dresses	Misses' Tub Frocks
Corsets	Girls' Tub Frocks
Knit Underwear	Tub Skirts
Infants' Wear	Silk Gloves

Of that known high quality typical of everything associated with the name of Carson Pirie Scott and Company, at a schedule of pricing making it advantageous to anticipate one's needs even for the entire summer.

New—Just Come Into the May Sales Voile House Dresses, $5.65

Like all other house dresses that are here, they are notably excellent.

Thoroughly good in fabric and workmanship and markedly moderate in price. And then they have

An Individuality of Style Absolutely Their Own

One style sketched at the right is of striped voile, a cool green, vivid coral, or old blue striped in white.

A tucked frill and short sleeves make this a lovely summer house dress. Priced in the May Sale at $5.65.

The other, sketched at the left, is of figured voile, rose, green or navy blue with a small "challis" pattern in white. The collar is of white organdie. $5.65.

Sale Assortments Renewed and Refreshed Continue to Afford Special Values in House Dresses, $3.95 to $5.95.

Third Floor, North.

Three Groups in the May Sale of Fine Undermuslins at $3.95

Garments dainty enough to be admitted into the trousseau—sturdy enough to delight the most practically inclined. And priced so specially as to make this a memorable offering in this great May Sale. Here are

Night-dresses of Pink Lingerie Mull, Pajamas and Night-dresses of China Silk, Crepe de Chine Envelope Chemises

The night-dress of pink lingerie mull (sketched at the right) has a yoke of hand-made lace. The other, at the left, sleeves and yoke of lace. Still another of China silk will prove delightful for the traveler. It packs into the smallest space.

The pajamas are made in one piece style amply full in cut. And the crepe de Chine envelope chemise has a charming yoke of lace embroidery and ribbon.

The Values Cannot Be Too Greatly Emphasized.

Third Floor, North.

Varied Types of Corsets

The May Sale Features at $5

A special and highly successful effort has been made to assemble at this price—one determined upon by so many women for their summer corset expenditure—an assortment of

Excellent Corsets All Our Own Special Models

All are notable values—so that all women with different individual corset requirements may profit through this selling. The representative model sketched is—

Our Special "Orchid" Corset, $5

It is a model designed for the slender figure, which proves most adaptable to many figures as it grades up in size to "30." There is a slight indication of a waist-line and this corset has the desired low top. Unusual at $5.

Third Floor, North.

The Engineers Are Back!

The Lucky Thirteenth will parade in the loop this morning—starting from the Coliseum at 11:45.

They will march down Michigan Avenue to Madison, west to State, south to Jackson, west to Clark, north to Randolph, west to La Salle.

Don't let anything keep you this morning from seeing them, and cheering them a great heartfelt welcome back home.

Linens
